

AMERICANS ESTABLISHED ALONG THE AISNE

CLASSIFICATION OF THE MEN FOR THE NEXT DRAFT

New Questionnaire Is Made Public By Provost Marshal General

YOUR WORK ESSENTIAL?

Industrial Exemptions Are Broader Than in the First Draft

Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.—With the announcement of a speeding up program designed to place in the training camps before the end of October the first contingents of the new draft registrants, 18 to 45 years old, Provost Marshal General Crowder made public today the new draft questionnaire.

By consulting the definitions of classification with which the questionnaire is prefaced the registrant may ascertain in what group of men he is likely to be called to the colors. The questionnaire which will be filled out by registrants immediately after registration day does not differ in any essential particular from the one used for preceding registrants. It provides the same five classes of registrants, but a new class is added at the bottom of the list to include conscientious objectors.

Is Your Work Essential?
Amendments of the draft law contained in the 18 to 45 act designed to cover cases of men of the advanced ages have brought about changes in the provisions of the questionnaire for claims of deferred classification on grounds of industrial occupation.

One question registrants will be called upon to answer is: "Are you engaged in an industrial enterprise necessary (a) to the maintenance of the military establishment or (b) to the effective operation of the military forces or (c) to the maintenance of national interest during the emergency?"

Must Show Right to Exemption.
If the answer is "No" it will not be necessary to answer any further questions. If deferred classification is claimed on occupational grounds the registrant will be asked in what respect he claims the occupation is essential.

It was first thought the questionnaire would be amended to charge draft boards with the duty of passing upon the question of deferred classification, without requiring the registrants to specifically make such claim, but the men from 31 to 45, as well as the boys from 18 to 21, will be required to answer the question: "Do you claim exemption or deferred classification in respect to the registrant named above? If so, state the division of each class and each class in which you claim you should be classified."

The Five Classes.
In the questionnaire which will be submitted to every man who registers under the selective service act next Thursday, the five classifications into which registrants will be divided after claims of exemption have been considered are as follows:

- Class 1.
Single man without dependent relatives.
- Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children who has habitually failed to support his family.
- Married man dependent on wife for support.
- Married man, with or without children, or father of motherless children; man not usefully engaged, family supported by income independent of his labor.

MRS. FREDERICK JOHN OF MARION TWP. DEAD

MOTHER OF DIXON AND LEE COUNTY PEOPLE TO BE BURIED NEXT SUNDAY.

Mrs. Frederick John of Marion township, died at her home Thursday, September 5, 1918, aged 56 years, 3 months and 16 days. Funeral services will be held next Sunday at 1 o'clock at the house and 2 o'clock at the German Lutheran church in this city.

Emily Schick, daughter of Henry and Martha Schick, was born in Erfurt, Germany, May 20, 1862. In 1878 she was united in marriage to Frederick John and shortly afterward they came to the United States and settled in Dixon, Lee county. At the age of 14 she was confirmed in the Lutheran church and was a faithful member to the end.

Mrs. John's life was very beautiful in its simplicity. She was a faithful wife, a kind and most loving mother and a good friend and neighbor.

She leaves to mourn her departure her husband, four sons, Paul of Marion township; Henry, in service with the A. E. F., in France; August and Max at home. Three daughters, Mrs. Rosa Moser of Dixon, Misses Helen and Ottilie at home, and six grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Carl Wedekind of Dixon and Mrs. Max Gerdes of Marion township.

AMERICAN SHIP SUNK AUG. 3RD

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Sept. 6.—The navy department announces that the American steamer, Lake Owens, has been sunk by an enemy submarine. Five members of the civilian crew were lost. The steamer, which is an army cargo carrier of 2,308 tons, was sunk by gun fire of a German submarine in foreign waters, August 3. All the members of the naval guard were saved, and only one, Chief Boatswain's Mate Lincoln, was injured. Except for the five missing, all on board were landed. Six were seriously injured and six slightly.

WANT SCHOOL BOYS TO STAY ON FARMS DURING SEPTEMBER

Urge That Credits Be Allowed Boys Who Aid With Harvest

MEDALS TO BE READY

Boys Who Spent Six Weeks On Farm To Get Honor Medal from U. S.

County Superintendent Miller has received notification from Washington, D. C., that the Boys' Working Reserve medals will be ready for distribution to the county directors as soon as they can get the credential cards, which are obtainable at the office of Superintendent Miller, in the hands of the boys. Any of the boys who do not receive these cards should notify Mr. Miller at once.

These medals are given for six weeks' work on farms after the close of school.

The service bars will soon be distributed from Washington, D. C., about December 1, 1918. The bar will be suspended from the medals, and will be given to boys who have assisted the farmers throughout the season.

Owing to the necessities of the farmers, it is strongly urged that boys who have gone out on the farms under the U. S. Boys' Working Reserve from the schools, be allowed to remain at work on the farm during September and that they receive full school credits.

One of the last official acts of Supt. John D. Shoop, of the Chicago schools, was to make this provision in his schools and many principals all over the state are meeting this rule in a fine war spirit.

An appeal has been made through the county directors to all of the boys, advising them that it is the wish that they remain on the farms during September and requesting that they write their parents for permission and also to the Principals of their schools so that provision might be made for their school credit.

Upon this subject the Commissioner of Education, Mr. Claxton, of Washington, D. C., says:

"There are before us as a people now just two matters of supreme importance: To win the war for democracy, freedom, and, let us hope, for permanent peace; and to prepare ourselves and our children for life in the new era which the war is bringing in. Nothing that will contribute to either of these must be neglected, whatever other sacrifices it may be necessary to make. No class of our people will, I am sure, appreciate more the importance of the education of their children than those who by their labor are making possible the conduct of the war, and I am therefore appealing to you with a feeling of confidence that you will be interested in this matter no less than I."

DEPENDENTS SHOULD CLAIM EXEMPTION

CROWDER FEARS HARDSHIP AND INJUSTICE IF EXEMPTION IS NOT CLAIMED

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Sept. 6.—Because many men of the new draft ages are expected to refuse to claim exemption from military service, regardless of whether or not they are needed at home, the Provost Marshal general's office suggests that employers or interested dependents should not fail to make formal claims of exemption in such cases.

It is pointed out that the form of the questionnaire purposely leaves the exemption claim open for others than the registrant himself. General Crowder's staff feels that the failure to present exemption claims because of sentimental or other reasons, will certainly work hardship and injustice, especially since the local boards will be called upon to make their classifications at top speed. General failure to make such claims would also slow up the work.

ST. MARY'S SCHOOL ENROLLS 220 PUPILS

The enrollment of St. Mary's school this year is 220 pupils, an increase over last year. The session commenced Tuesday morning and everything is now moving along nicely.

Mrs. Nellie Gantz Miller is assisting in the Edwards Book store.

CHOIRMASTER FOR ST. LUKE'S

Emory L. Gallup, choirmaster and organist at St. Chrysostom's church, Chicago, has been engaged by Rev. Babin of St. Luke's Episcopal church in Dixon to come here once a week and manage the choir at St. Luke's. Mr. Gallup will come to Dixon every Thursday for a Thursday night choir practice. He held his first meeting here last evening and was highly pleased with the start.

TRAITOROUS TALK IN GERMANY IS TARGET

PRISON, IS THREAT OF GOVERNMENT OF BRANDENBURG AND OTHER CITIES

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Amsterdam, Sept. 5 (Delayed).—Berlin and the province of Brandenburg, have been placed under the "law relating to the state of siege, which provides a fine or imprisonment for persons inviting or circulating rumors calculated to disquiet the populace," according to the Cologne Volks Zeitung.

The notice, according to a decree signed by General Von Linsingen, of the Brandenburg province, calls attention to the circulation of "frivolous and sometimes traitorous" exaggerations of enemy successes and casts doubt upon the German power for economic resistance and depreciates the wonderful achievements of the German troops, which, he declares, are victoriously withstanding the enemy.

Von Linsingen hopes the admonition will suffice and that it will not be necessary to enforce the decree. The Volks Zeitung adds that similar decrees have been declared in Breslau and other cities, all operative immediately.

TWENTY SOLDIERS TO GEORGIA THIS MORN

THREE LIMITED SERVICE MEN TO BE INDUCTED AT CAMP GRANT SATURDAY.

Twenty more Lee county men have been sent to war, with the contingent which left this morning over the Illinois Central for Camp Forest, Ga. All the men scheduled to go were on hand with the exception of Richard T. Marshall, who failed to get his notice in time, and who will be inducted through the local board at Stibton, Ky.

Today's shipment completes the three groups who have been sent since the last of August, the previous two groups having been sent to Camp Grant.

To Go Saturday.
Harold F. Sheller of Dixon, Fred E. Durin of Scarboro and Jessie Earver of Dixon will be inducted into the army on Saturday, leaving here on the Sterling passenger for Camp Grant. They are limited service men.

FOUR DIXON BROTHERS FIGHTING IN FRANCE

FOUR SONS OF MR. AND MRS. J. H. HANKERSON ARE WITH GENERAL PERSHING

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hankerson, of 310 First street, Dixon, have a distinction which it is believed no one else in this city can boast. They have four sons in France. Mr. Hankerson is night watchman at the Illinois Northern Utilities Company in Dixon.

The four Hankerson boys who are in France with the U. S. Army helping to chase the Hun back into Berlin, and then out the other side, are: Miles, age 23, and Gary, age 25, both of whom were in the regular army when the war broke out and went to France with the first army with General Pershing; and Hugh, age 20, and Fred, age 18, who enlisted and went across six months ago.

WAR SUMMARY

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Continuing their pressure all along the front from Rheims to Ypres, the allied forces are pushing back the Germans on virtually this entire 150 mile line.

Progress has been made particularly by the French and Americans on the southern part of the front. The French are before the old Hindenburg line along a considerable stretch of this sector, where they are closing in on the bastion of St. Gobain, the keystone to the German defensive system in the west.

Farther north the enemy armies are still in retreat before the French and British, who are capturing town after town as they make rapid strides toward the line from which the Germans launched their offensive last March.

Ham is almost within the grasp of the allied forces and Chauny is seriously threatened.

British Capture Many Towns

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Sept. 6.—British troops today captured Neuvechappelle and Bussu. The French have secured a good hold on the north bank of the Ailette and on the terrain between that river and the Aise. They are approaching, if they are not actually on the Hindenburg line at St. Gobain massif.

Ham Completely Encircled

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Sept. 6 (3:35 P. M.).—General Debeney's army is steadily advancing in the direction of Ham, which has been completely encircled.

General Mangin's troops are now in sight of Laon, having reached positions within ten miles of that city.

General Berthelot's soldiers have reached the Aisne on a large front. General Humbert's army is making steady progress, successfully completing the removal of the German menace from Noyon.

ARREST I. W. W. MAN IN P. O. BOMB PLOT

JOHN W. WILSON, I. W. W. BOOK-KEEPER, SAID TO HAVE BEEN IDENTIFIED.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Sept. 6.—In a statement given out today by Assistant State's Attorney Sullivan, it is declared that John W. Wilson, who was arrested last night, has been positively identified as being implicated in the "planting" of the bomb in the Chicago federal building on Wednesday, the explosion of which killed four persons and seriously injured a score of others.

Wilson, who is a leader of the I. W. W., and Mrs. Minnie Wynman, a sister of Wm. D. Haywood, convicted leader of the I. W. W., were taken into custody in a raid on a west side house.

In the announcement of Mr. Sullivan, Wilson is identified by four persons as the man who was seen running away from the Adams street entrance to the federal building shortly before the explosion. He is described as the man with the black fedora hat who ran out, leaped into a black automobile and was whirled away.

Detectives said Wilson admitted being employed by the I. W. W. as bookkeeper.

VISITS WASHINGTON.

Daniel McIntyre, Jr., of Highland avenue, who is stationed at Baltimore in the motor truck division of the army, writes home that he spent several days at Washington.

LITTLE BABY DIED.

Robert Jared, the eight months old infant of Mr. and Mrs. Max Halstead, of Nelson, died this morning at 2:30 o'clock from cholera infantum. The body will be shipped to Blairstown, Pa., tonight.

GEO. DELAND HERE.

Many friends are greeting George Deland of Waterloo, a former Dixon man who for some time conducted the ice business here. Mr. Deland is always a welcome visitor in Dixon, where he has a host of friends.

ALLIES FORGE AHEAD IN THREE IMPORTANT SECTORS IN THE WEST

Ham Virtually In Hands of Humbert's Men—Americans and French Were Established On Eight Mile Front On the Aisne Last Night, Following German Retreat From Vesle—Many Towns Captured During Day

HAIG'S FORCES HAVE CROSSED CANAL DU NORD

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Sept. 6.—American troops advancing from the Vesle have captured the town of Glennes and have advanced their lines as far as the outskirts of Villers-en-Prayeres, on the Aisne river.

In the course of the night we continued to advance on the entire front between the Somme and the Vesle. Our troops continue to cross the Somme in the region of Epen-court and further south they have pushed forward at several points as far as the road from Ham to Peronne.

North of the Ailette river we attained the approach to Sinceny and the plateau north of Landricourt.

South of the Ailette we are along the Veauxillon ravine.

Yanks Took Towns Last Night.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

With the American Army in France, Thursday, Sept. 5 (11 P. M.).—Franco-American troops are on the south bank of the Aisne tonight between Conde and Vieil-Arcy, an eight mile front. American forces this afternoon occupied Dhuizel and Barboval, virtually without opposition.

Ham Virtually Is Taken.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, Sept. 6 (12:30 P. M.).—General Humbert's army is making steady progress today in the region of Guiscard and Ham. Advices from the battle front say the town of Ham has virtually been taken by the French.

Berlin's Official Report.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, Sept. 6, Via London.—Strong enemy attacks on the Neuville-Nanancourt-Moislarns line, northeast of Peronne, were repulsed yesterday, says the official statement of the German war office.

From Peronne and over the Somme the enemy are only hesitatingly following the German rear guard. German troops stand in fighting contact with the French on the Anizy-Barisis-Laffaux-Conde line.

On the heights northeast of Fismes strong American attacks were repulsed. East of Soissons the enemy followed the Germans across the Vesle.

Haig Crosses Canal Du Nord.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Sept. 6.—Field Marshal Haig's forces have crossed the Canal Du Nord on its whole front excepting from Havrincourt north to the Scarpe.

Between the Somme and the Oise French troops have captured the block of hills known as the Outrecourt Massif, which is within three miles of Chauny.

On the Flanders front the British have established themselves in the important old German front east of Neuve Chappelle, and in the old British line in the Fauquissart sector.

The British also have advanced northwest of Armentieres. North of Peronne the British are in possession of the town of Bussu.

Southeast of Peronne the British have reached Athies and Mons-en-Chussee. They have captured the village of Doint.

Australians Driving Forward.

With the British Army in France, Sept. 6 (Noon).—Australian troops have crossed the Somme on a wide front south of Peronne. The British have captured the towns of St. Christ, Brie, Le Mesnil, Athies and Doint and are now advancing to the eastward.

LOWDEN IN TALK ON THE FOOD SITUATION

Governor Says We Must Study Waste of Food And Avoid It

FOLLOW REGULATIONS

Governor Frank O. Lowden has issued the following statement on the food situation, which should be read and obeyed by every man, woman and child in Illinois:

September 4, 1918.

We shall produce food sufficient for the winning of the war, only if we practice economy in the consumption of that food. We not only must supply our own needs and the needs of our ever-increasing armies in the field, but must also raise a substantial surplus for our Allies. The task seems big. It is big. It can only be performed if we cooperate with the Food Administration.

There are many articles of food which equally answer the need of the human body, but because of prejudice or habit, one of such foods may be the most popular. That is the very article which is most likely to be desired by our soldiers in the field. Take sugar, for instance. There are many substitutes for sugar which will do as well, and yet sugar is particularly desired by our soldiers. Surely all will agree that in such cases it is the duty of our population at home to content itself with the substitutes and permit our soldiers to have the more desirable article. In such cases, if our people are only informed of the situation, they will content themselves with the substitute. The situation, however, can only be made known through the Food Administration. That Administration gathers all the facts, and, knowing how much is required of each article for our soldiers, prescribes how much of the same article can safely be consumed at home and how far substitutes must be used in place of such article.

It therefore becomes the duty of the people to obey the instructions of the Food Administration. Therein only safety lies.

It may also happen that certain food commodities can more easily and more cheaply be transported than others which answer the same purpose. And transportation is one of the great problems of the war. Only the Food Administration can determine what articles of any particular class can be wisely consumed at home so as to make the transportation of food needed abroad possible.

Physicians tell us that our people in the past have eaten more food than was good for them, anyway. This is certainly a time for bringing our daily rations down to the requirements of health. What may at first seem a privation will later be recognized as a benefit.

Perhaps the greatest benefit to be derived from following the instructions of the Food Administration will be the habits of thrift and economy which will come out of it. It has almost become a proverb that the average family in this country wastes enough to support a family in another country. We shall be compelled to study waste and to avoid it. We shall doubtless find ourselves thinking that the quantity of some article of food allowed us is ridiculously small, only to find later that by avoiding waste it has been quite sufficient. We shall doubtless learn that what we regarded in the past as necessary is altogether an excess. And while this war is on, we shall come to feel that every morsel of food which goes to waste might otherwise help to relieve the hunger of some brave soldier at the front.

If we will only realize that every time we deviate from the instruction of the Food Administration, we are depriving our boys at the front of some comfort, we surely will be very glad to refrain. If we can simply visualize to ourselves some boy in the trenches who goes without sufficient and palatable food because we disregard the food regulations, we will content ourselves with some substitute for the particular article, or do entirely without it.

Certainly, we at home have so far endured nothing that could be called privation, because of food regulations. In this respect how different the situation of the people of the other belligerent countries! And we shall not win this war alone. It will require the united strength of ourselves and our allies. It therefore is just as important that our Allies have proper food as ourselves. With the abundance with which we have been blessed, we shall only meet our full duty if we scrupulously and rigidly follow the regulations of the Food Administration.

FRANK O. LOWDEN,
Governor of Illinois.

FACTS 'ABOUT' THE U. S. ARMY

Mrs. F. X. Newcomer has furnished The Telegraph with the following interesting facts concerning the organizations of the army. Mrs. Newcomer writes:

The question is often asked as to how many men there are in a division, regiment, company, brigade, etc. For the information of readers we here present such information. Cut out this article so you will be prepared to answer these questions in the future.

An army corps is 600,000 men.

An infantry division is 19,000 men.

An infantry brigade is 7,000 men.

A regiment of infantry is 3,600 men.

A battalion is 1,000 men.

A company is 250 men.

A platoon is 60 men.

A corporal's squad is 11 men.

A field artillery brigade comprises 1,300 men.

A firing squad is 20 men.

A supply train is 283 men.

A machine gun battalion has 296 men.

An engineers' regiment has 1,098 men.

An ambulance company has 66 men.

A field hospital has 55 men.

A medicine attachment has 13 men.

A major general leads the field army and also each army corps.

A brigadier general heads each infantry brigade.

A colonel heads each regiment.

A lieutenant colonel is next in rank below a colonel.

A major heads a battalion.
A captain heads a company.
A lieutenant heads a platoon.
A sergeant is next below a lieutenant.

With the season fast approaching wherein we must spend the greater part of our time indoors, this Fall Furniture Exhibit is indeed timely and interesting for those who desire to make their homes more attractive and more inviting for the coming "in-door" season.

The Government has now practically taken over the greater part of the better lumber out of this Country and the Army demands are reducing the number of available expert workmen to such an extent that obtaining good furniture is a problem of considerable weight for both the furniture maker and the householder. But a broad foresight that caused us to contract for deliveries far ahead of the usual buying season, assures you that for quality and economy, this Fall Exhibit is second to none. Come and see it. No obligations to buy.

Sister Is Guest.
Mrs. Kirby Reed is entertaining her sister, Mrs. O. L. Janda, of Milwaukee.

Miss McKenney Wins Cup.
The postponed "Ladies' Day" gathering at the Country club Thursday was a very pleasant affair.

Mrs. Willard Thompson won first place in the first, second and fifth low score contest; Mrs. Bardwell secured second place; and Mrs. Rowland fifth.

There were eighteen at the pleasant mid-day luncheon.

Miss Helen McKenney and Miss Ingraham played off the finals for the ladies' handicap cup. Miss McKenney winning. The handicap cup is now the possession of Miss McKenney for the year. In 1916 Mrs. Jason Miller held the cup and Mrs. Hamilton had that honor in 1917.

Guests of the club for the day were Mrs. Cowles, of Bloomington, Mrs. Fred Moore, of Omaha, and Miss Del Lucia Lindman of Chicago. The latter is a guest of Mrs. Fred Dimick.

At Country Club.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Forrest and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Hawley were supper guests at the Country Club last evening.

Attend the Frolickers' dance Friday evening.

Friend Wrote Poem.
The following poem was written by a young American soldier, now in France, whose father was killed in the Spanish-American war and whose grandfather fought in the Civil war. He is a friend of G. L. Robinson of Armedia avenue, this city. The poem was first published in a Rochester, Minn., paper:

"It is too bad," a neighbor said, "too bad that he must go."
The gentle mother raised her head and proudly answered "No."
We do not think of it that way, at night when we're alone
We miss his smile of yesterday and all we used to own,
And yet, beneath the grief we know, the anguish and the care,
We're glad we had a son to go to serve his country there.

"It would be bad, too bad, had he been ours for twenty years
And would not step aside to see what caused another's tears,
If unto right our son were blind and deaf to every plea,
And thought not of his fellow-kind; if he had learned from me
That he must live for self alone, and fearing harm, must bow
To tyranny, then we should own your deepest pity now.

If he had failed to catch the gleam within the flag above;
And missed the splendor and the dream and pride of country love;
If he had lived throughout his youth and had not come to see
That better far than life is truth, then you could pity me.
Don't say to us that it's too bad, although we miss him so,
A greater grief we should have had, had he not wished to go.

"We told him how the flag was born, we trained him to be true,
We spoke of wrongs that he must do, and if the worst shall come, and he on Flanders' field shall lie,
Our consolation then shall be we taught him how to die.
We never say that it's too bad, beneath the grief we know
And all the loneliness, we're glad he bravely dared to go."

Lievan-Crawford.
News of the marriage of Ralph Lievan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Lievan, of 210 Third street, this city, to Miss Ruth Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crawford of 204 East Third street, which was solemnized at eight o'clock last evening, Thursday, September 5th, at the Dupont hotel, Wilmington, Delaware, was carried in a telegram from the bride's father to Dixon friends this morning.

The parents of the bride, who accompanied her to Wilmington, were there to witness the ceremony, which took place in Wilmington, as Mr. Lievan, who is engaged there in the government ship building plant, was unable to obtain leave of absence to come to Dixon.

By their marriage two of the most prominent of Dixon families were united. The bride is one of the most charming and unassuming young women. She is a graduate of the Colonial School for Girls at Washington, D. C., and took the domestic science course at the DeKalb Normal. She has also traveled extensively with her parents. Mr. Lievan is a young bus-

BRIAN TELLS RUTH ABOUT HIS DINNER WITH MOLLY.

CHAPTER XXXV.
Brian caught a Fifth Avenue bus at the square. It would take him nearly home. He rode on top, the only passenger. While he smoked he thought of Mollie.

"Good little scout," he said aloud, "I wish the others had kept away. Next time I'll have Mollie meet me up-town somewhere," showing he intended there should be a "next time."

When the conductor came for his fare, he had no change, so took out a dollar bill (his last one) and handed it to him.

"I've spent a lot of money, these two nights," he soliloquized. "But it was worth it. I'll have to borrow to pay the rent tomorrow. Clark will let me have it."

Clark was the man who had loaned him money once before. Brian had paid it with the check Ruth's aunt had given her, and he had also given Clark much bigger interest than the banks gave. So he had no fear but that he would accommodate him again. That settled, Brian gave neither it, nor the fact of his extravagance, any further thought. His mind dwelt upon how sweet Mollie King was; what a jolly little studio she had, and what a comfortable place it was to visit.

It was after two o'clock when he switched off the lights.

Pretty late for an old married man," he muttered with a grin.

Ruth was at home when he arrived the next night. She had sent word what time she would be home so that he might meet her; but he had been away from the office when it came. He had not gone back, so missed it altogether.

Ruth had been terribly disappointed when she realized that Brian was not at the station. She had lingered some little time hoping he would come for her. Then she had gone on home, a little hurt, but her mind made up to show no signs of it. So she had met his with a loving kiss and no reproaches, altho he saw she had been disappointed.

"Gee, Ruth, I would have gone back had I thought of it! But I forgot all about your promise to let me know the train you were coming on. I'm awfully sorry, dear," and he was. He felt chagrined that he had failed to remember Ruth's message.

"Never mind, dear. I'm here now. Had an awfully lonesome time, dear."

"No—not so very," Brian flushed and stammered a little. "I went out to dinner. There wasn't any use eating alone."

"Indeed there wasn't!" Ruth said heartily. "Where did you go?"

"Down town. To the Brevort."

"How in the world did you come to go way down there?"

As she asked the question Brian recalled what Mollie King had said: "You tell her, then the others will ness man of worth. Wilmington will be the home of this popular young couple."

For Miss Beyers.
Miss Orleans Newcomer entertained on Wednesday evening informally for Miss Leah Lawson's guest, Miss Trixie Beyers of Chicago. The guests included the Misses Leah Lawson, Trixie Beyers, Ruth Rosenthal, Leota Rice, Gladys Kenaga, Charlotte Campbell, Marguerite McTague and Goldie Brierton. An enjoyable luncheon was served and music was enjoyed during the evening.

Entertained.
Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Newcomer entertained very pleasantly last evening at an informal affair the employees of the Dixon Grocery Store, of which Mr. Newcomer is proprietor. Various amusing diversions in the shape of stunts and contests added to the pleasure of the evening, which was further enhanced by delightful musical numbers furnished by Miss Orleans Newcomer. Tempting refreshments were served in the course of the evening.

From Duluth.
Mrs. Arvene Lord and baby of Duluth, Minn., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lord.

Ends Visit Here.
Mrs. Fred Moore, who has been the guest of Mrs. Charles Leake left today for Chicago. It is fourteen years since Mrs. Moore visited Dixon.

With Mrs. Lord.
Mrs. A. S. Hyde, of Chicago, is spending the day with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fred Lord. Mrs. Harry Roe is also a guest of Mrs. Lord.

Motored From Iowa.
Dr. and Mrs. Clevidence and Mrs. C. H. Noble returned last evening in their car from Iowa City, where they went last Saturday for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Carson.

With Mrs. Benjamin.
Mrs. Sarah Johnson will spend the winter at the home of Mrs. Lillian Benjamin of Peoria avenue, have nothing to gossip about." Yes Mollie was right. He better tell her himself.

"I asked Mollie King to dine with me. She is good company. The Brevort is handy for her, so I asked her to meet me there."

"Oh—" then after a minute, "did you asked her both nights?"

"Yes," with a little bravado. "I was lonely. Mollie is the best company of anyone I know. If you will leave me alone, I have to find someone to take your place, you know," this last pleasantly.

"Of course you do. And don't think for a minute I object to your having company," yet, as she said it, Ruth's heart contracted a little as she thought of Mollie King, and of two nights in succession.

"Well, let's have dinner. You must be hungry. How did things go in Philly?" Brian changed the subject. He did not care to be asked if he took Molly home or what time he himself got in.

"Oh, everything went beautifully!" Ruth responded with enthusiasm. "It is the loveliest old house, and will lend itself to certain schemes wonderfully. I am delighted that Mr. Mandel let me have the work to do. Even if it did mean letting you dine with another woman," she added with a little laugh.

For the remainder of the evening Mollie King was not mentioned. But she was in the mind of both. Ruth told of the details of her business, in which Brian was only politely interested; but through her mind ran the picture of Brian and Mollie at dinner together. Brian listened occasionally asking a question, but, in his thoughts, Mollie, and her smoke-filled studio insisted upon intruding.

It was so easy to talk to Mollie. She sort of looked up to a fellow. But a wife who earned more than he did, then insisted upon talking business—well—he loved Ruth, but he couldn't help it if he wished she would not be so superior.

The fact of the matter was that Ruth was not at all "superior." She constantly tried, in her talk with Brian, to eliminate anything that might make him feel that she was sensible of her earning power. She constantly tried to make him see her business as a business, done because of her love for it, instead of the remuneration she received. She had sensed his feeling of resentment, toward that phase of it, from the start, and was constantly on her guard when talking to him.

After Brian fell asleep Ruth lay for some time, wide awake, thinking of her handsome, careless husband and Mollie King.

"He belongs to me; she can't take him from me," she muttered before she fell asleep to dream that Mollie had taken Brian from her; and that Brian wanted to go.

THE SENATORIAL FIGHT.

On Wednesday of next week the republican voters will be given the opportunity to go to the polls and select the men they wish to elect to office at the later election. There are a number of contests on the ticket, but the one which is most vital to the interests of the state and nation, and the one where there is the greatest danger of making a grave mistake, is in the nomination of a United States Senator.

The three candidates, Congressmen Medill McCormick and Foss, and Mayor William Hale Thompson, of Chicago, are making a bitter fight for this important and honorable position. McCormick undoubtedly has the lead over the other two, but there is an element in the situation that is very dangerous, and that is that the loyalist and purely American voters have two men, either one of whom they might safely select, while other elements among the voters, un-American, anti-war, obstructionists, and other kinds, even more disagreeable and undesirable, will unite on William Hale Thompson. Too great a split in the loyalist vote among the republicans at next Wednesday's primary would nominate Thompson. Lee county republicans do not want such a result. They must take care that they are not a party to it. There is a way to avoid it. If the republicans of Illinois, the real pro-American and pro-all republicans, will unite on the strongest candidate, Medill McCormick, he will be nominated, and they will have a candidate they will be able to elect in November, and a candidate they will be proud to support.

If William Hale Thompson is nominated on the republican ticket, every republican that we have talked to will shut his eyes and cross his fingers and vote the democratic ticket, figuring that even Jim Ham Lewis would be the lesser of the two evils. Such a situation would be a desperate one, from the republican viewpoint, and we hope and have faith that it will not develop. But Illinois republicans have too much respect for Abraham Lincoln's party and too much regard for the welfare of the country, to allow William Hale Thompson to represent them in the senate.

However, Thompson's nomination is only a dangerous possibility, not a probability. Happily, there is a candidate who measures up to the full standard of Americanism, intelligence, ability and republicanism, and who can be relied upon to uphold the honor and dignity of this state in the upper house at Washington—Medill McCormick. The republican who lets anything interfere with his casting his vote for McCormick at Wednesday's primary election will be remiss in his duty toward his nation and his party.
He will be putting himself in a class in which he will be ashamed to be recognized. He will not be doing his full share in helping America win this war.

Medill McCormick, who operates a big dairy farm a short distance up the river from Dixon, in Ogle County, and who has visited Dixon many times, is well known to the people of this vicinity, and they will vote for him, knowing that as a man and a statesman he will be a credit to the state.
Medill McCormick is not in politics for what he can get out of it, but for what he can put into it. He is the all-American candidate. He is for the prosecution of the war to an early and victorious conclusion. He has been in France, with Pershing and his soldiers, and he knows what they want and what they need to help them in their big task of beating the Hun to his knees. He is the man to nominate for senator.

LAND FOR SOLDIERS.

Secretary Lane presented to the president and to congress recently a comprehensive plan for a preliminary study of the unused lands of the country, with particular reference to the irrigation of some 15,000,000 acres of arid land, the drainage of between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000 acres of swamp land, and the clearing of approximately 200,000,000 acres of cut-over or logged-off land, with the purpose in view of reclaiming these lands through governmental agency and providing homes for returned soldiers.

The secretary's plan has received much favorable comment. The study should be begun at the earliest practical moment, so that if the plan should prove feasible the lands can be reclaimed in time to be made available for returned soldiers not too long after the war is over. To make farms available for these worthy men would do much to lessen the industrial disturbance which is sure to follow their homecoming. All of them who want to till the soil should have the opportunity to do so.

Reclaiming of all these lands is a thing that must be done ultimately.
The government would do a double service to itself and the country by hastening such reclamation and thus immensely increasing food production, especially when by doing so brave soldiers can at the same time be rewarded.

The farms should not be large. It is a question to be studied just how many acres should be awarded to a soldier, and on just what terms. The reclamation would cost the government a lot of money, and most soldiers wanting to make their home on the land and to cultivate it would be willing to return some of this cost to the government in payments at stated periods. If such payments are to be required they should be much smaller in the aggregate than the real value of the lands.

Such lands should not be awarded in a way to fall readily into the hands of speculators. A positive requirement for actual settlement and actual cultivation for a stated number of years might well be made, failure of the soldier or his family to continue for the full time to mean reversion of the land back to the government.

ARE YOU SAVING COAL?

You expect cheap coal and plenty of it. The Government is giving you cheap coal—cheap under the circumstances, as you will see if you compare present and pre-war prices of that commodity alongside present and pre-war prices of various other commodities; or the American price with European prices. But high prices stimulate production, and in keeping the price comparatively low the Government forgoes that stimulation. High prices induce economy in consumption, too. In keeping prices comparatively low the Government must rely on voluntary economy.

Are you volunteering? Have you really done anything about next winter's fuel supply except to badger the coal man and criticize the Fuel Administration? Have you overhauled your furnace? Have you got an ash sifter? Have you considered whether it is really a good plan to throw the dampers open until the house is stifling and then open the windows?

The Fuel Administration has not been perfect. Have you? You are a fuel administration, too. While preparing to advise the Fuel Administration at Washington do not forget that it can give you some good advice.—
Saturday Evening Post.

Is Y. W. C. A. Secretary.

Mrs. M. R. Forsyth has recently returned from Chicago where she visited at the central headquarters of the Y. W. C. A., while the state institute was in progress. Mrs. Forsyth has been chosen to act as secretary of the Second District, which includes Lee and Ogle counties, for the Y. W. C. A. During the month of November the Y. W. C. A. will conduct its drive for the obtaining of its quota for war work, and the counties of Lee and Ogle have been placed in one district with a quota to be obtained jointly. The drive is endorsed by the National War Board and President Wilson. The fund is to be applied to the work in cantonments, and the Y. W. C. A. automatically is provided with a portion of this for the upkeep of the hostess houses, canteens and other forms of Y. W. C.
A. work.

to Washington, D. C.

St. Paul's Aid Met.

Mrs. W. E. White was hostess yesterday to the members of St. Paul's Aid Society and a very pleasant meeting resulted. Dr. Altman spoke to the society of the necessity of keeping the church active in these critical times and in order to keep the congregation interested in the church activities asked that the ladies make a special effort in planning for the annual congregational meeting to be held the first Monday in October. The ladies will serve the supper. The ladies' share for the sale of tickets for the Rock River Assembly, thirty-seven dollars, was turned into the treasury. As a pleasant interruption to so much business, Miss Helen White, daughter of the house, sang to her own accompaniment, a beautiful number, "The Star of the East," and also played "Water Lilies." Mrs.
White was assisted in the serving of the very enjoyable refreshments by Mrs. David Ditzler.

When Sick, Go to a "Vet."

"Some of the best medicines for people are dog medicines," said a physician.

"You see, all sorts of remedies are prescribed for human complaints, and sometimes they are beneficial. Many people have faith in patent medicines, which may be more or less justified.

"But a dog medicine is very sure to be a good thing. It wouldn't sell if it wasn't. And what is good for a dog is likely to be good for a human being —supposing that he really knows what is the matter with him.

"A doctor who started in business with no other equipment than a dozen prescriptions representing first-class dog medicines (supposing him to be a fair diagnostician) ought to make a fair professional success."

MOVIES MUST DRIP GLOOM

Picture Dramas That Have Happy
Endings Can Never Attain Popularity in Russia.

Four and five-act movie dramas of the highly emotional and sentimental kind are popular in Russia. Cowboy activities, murders and burglaries do not appeal to these audiences. Rough comedy is wasted even on the cheapest Russian audience. They do not understand it.

American pictures, as a rule, do not appeal to the Russian taste. They want a drama woven usually around the "eternal triangle;" the men must be ardent lovers, and the women weak but noble.

A weeping mother or the deathbed of a beloved father is always very impressive. There must be a death in the drama, preferably the suicide of hero or heroine, with the other one going into the cloister at the end. The ideal picture play for Russian popular audiences must not under any circumstances, have a happy ending.

The Russians use a great deal of descriptive and explanatory material on the films in showing their own dramas.
They depend upon it largely for the "action." They do not care nearly so much for action in the pictures as for postures indicating emotions. Ama-tory and deathbed scenes should always be photographed to the last detail, but nearly everything else may be written and read.

ALLIES FORGE AHEAD

Along the whole front to the south, extending to the Bapaume-Cambrai road, the firing of the enemy's big guns is dwindling. This indicates that the Germans are making a strenuous effort to get their artillery behind the Hindenburg defenses. The British have captured more posts around Havincourt wood.

North of the Sensee river the Germans are firing thousands of gas shells indiscriminately.

The Germans have launched three counter attacks at Hill 73 in the Lys salient. Two were repulsed and once the British fell back to the north side of the hill momentarily.
Farther north the British have captured the important ridge northeast of Wulverghem.

Mrs. Nettie Mead has received the news of the death of an aged relative, James A. Heath, who passed away at his home in western Idaho at the extreme age of 97 years. He is the last member of the Heath family, bearing the name of Heath. His father was a cousin of Mrs. Mead's father, John A. Heath. In the early fifties, he, with his father, after the death of his mother, went to the western country, making most of the journey by foot and carrying their belongings in a pack. Gold claims were staked and at Mr. Heath's death he was worth a million dollars.

Dixon Boy Has Made Three Round Trips On U. S. Transport

WRITES HIS MOTHER

The following letter was written to Mrs. John H. Byers by her son, Paul, who has made three round trips across the sea to France as a machinist mate on the big transport, U. S. S. Huron. Mr. Byers returned from his third trip Sunday, Sept. 1, and is now stationed at Newport News, Va., from which port he will again sail for France sometime the first of next week.

U. S. S. Huron.

Sept. 2, 1918.

My Dear Mother:

I received your letter written sometime in August and I certainly did love to read it. Gee, but I would like to see you, but I guess there is no chance. Well, mother, I have made three trips across now, and expect to leave again very soon. The trips are getting old to me. It gets very tiresome going over and back. I have seen some great sights, some are good to see, while others would make one's "hair stand on end." When you see hundreds of wounded soldiers lying side by side, it makes one feel that there is a war. It is terrible. The American boys are doing some wonderful fighting, but they are falling fast.

We brought back 500 wounded soldiers with us this last trip. It was an awful sight to see them. I had to shed some tears when I first saw them. You people back home have no idea of what war is until you can see some of the awful sights. Oh, mother, I could tell you more of my experiences if I could only tell you in person.

I am glad that Russell likes the navy. Do you know where he is at present?

Mother, dear, I am sending you some articles I bought in France. The gloves are for Alice and Grace, the little bonnet is for Helen and the silk stockings are for you. I will send more presents soon.

Give my love to all and my best wishes to all my friends.

With love, I am,

Your son,

PAUL.

Announcement of Stetson Hats

THIS week we make our first showing of the new Fall and Winter STETSONS

To every man who realizes the importance of good clothes in looking right, in feeling fit, in achieving the big work before him--this is an event of interest.

Here is one of the finest lines of Stetsons we've ever shown—value and style.

TRUE, you will pay a little more for your Stetson than you used to—as in everything else you buy and use.

The point is that Stetson values are sound. Compare these Stetsons with any other make of hat selling about town at equal prices.

And now, one suggestion—that you make it a point to see these hats as soon as you can.

Many a lifelong wearer of other makes will seek Stetson values this year, assuring himself of quality.

: THE EVENING STORY :

The Resurrection
of PeterBy GEORGE HENRY ELLERTON
Copyright, Paget Newspaper Service.

The old man with the bent shoulders hobbled through the gate of the penitentiary, and followed the officer into the warden's room. There he stood staring helplessly round till the man at the desk stopped writing and looked up inquiringly.

"What can I do for you?" he asked. "It's about my son," he murmured; "he's in here."

There was a moment's silence, the prison official evidently thinking that his visitor would continue, but the old man hung his head and remained quiet.

"What is his name?" asked the warden. The ancient straightened himself up and looked squarely at his questioner.

"His real name is Peter Halsbury," he replied; "but he ain't in here under his real name. Look, mister, it's like this: Peter was the best boy that ever lived, but he loved a girl, an' when she went back on him he jest got a little wild. You know, mister, a lot of young fellers do that. But he's a good boy."

The warden nodded. He had heard the same story many times, but he had sympathy to spare for the old man who tried to shield his son.

"It was jest that girl goin' back on him," repeated the visitor. Pete was a straight 'un up till then. He had a heart bigger'n any boy around the place, an' he wasn't afraid of much. Then as I told you he went wild a bit, an' I hear as he got into this box. Young Dud Peters told he was here, an' Dud knows."

The warden pulled the heavy register towards him and looked over the pages.

"There is no Peter Halsbury in here," he said.

The old man moved closer.

"No, I told you he wouldn't be here under his right name. But he's here, all right, an' I jest wish I could see him. See, mister, it's like this: I'm jest run to the length of my chain, fair petersed out, an' I'd like to see the boy 'fore I go west to die. I've come a good way to see him, mister. He's my only son, an' he was a mighty good son up to the time that girl fooled 'im. I'd jest like to shake his hand if it could be fixed. He was a good boy, an' if he knew that he—he—died wanted to speak to him—he—"

The old man's voice died away in a faint whisper, and the warden fumbled nervously with his papers.

"I will make an attempt to find your son," he said, slowly. "If you come back in three hours I might have news for you."

The long lines of convicts were drawn up in front of the workshops before being marched to their cells for their midday meal, when the warden stepped forward and addressed them.

"An old man called here this morning to see his son," he said quietly. "He thinks it will be his last opportunity of seeing him, as he is very old and is now going west to die. But his son is here under an assumed name, but before doing so I will give him warning. If he thinks that the fact of his real name being known to the authorities might lead to further prosecution he may keep quiet. If he doesn't, he can see his father who will return to the jail after dinner. The name is Peter Halsbury."

There was a shuffling of many feet along the line when the name was called. Convicts gave sighs of relief and glanced at each other wondering. Each man thought that Peter Halsbury, if he was in the long lines, would be a considerable fool if he made himself known, and they nudged one another to express their contempt of the warden's tactics.

"A nice idiot he'd be to own up," murmured a low-browed man in the rear rank, and his companions snickered.

"Peter Halsbury is the name," repeated the warden.

There was a moment of tense silence, then a broad-shouldered man in the rear rank pushed his way through the line in front, took two steps forward and stood attention. The warden and the prison officials stared. The prisoner who stepped forward was known as John Gregory.

"I am Peter Halsbury," he said, quietly. "I would like to speak to my father when he returns."

That afternoon father and son conversed for a short twenty minutes in the visitor's room, but while they were bidding each other an affectionate farewell, the Law was busy. The warden of Entwala penitentiary communicated the fact of the resurrection of Peter Halsbury to the authorities, and those authorities were busy looking up records to see if Peter was wanted for some other offense. And the Law did not seek in vain. Peter Halsbury had slipped twice from the path of virtue, but for the first slip he did not pay a penalty because the Law was not familiar with his whereabouts. Thus it came to pass that same train that took old Halsbury west to die, carried his son to the county seat to stand his trial for an offense committed two years previous.

The attorney for the people who conducted the prosecution of Peter Halsbury made a brilliant effort in stating the case to the jury. The crowd in the courtroom shuddered as they listened to the remarkable manner in which retribution followed the evildoer.

"This man," cried the attorney, "has been a fugitive from justice for two years. But justice is surefooted and tireless, gentlemen. Emerson has said that crime and punishment grow upon the one stalk and the hand that plucks the one will surely gather the other. Halsbury's case is an example. He was an inmate of Entwala penitentiary under the assumed name of Gregory, but by a curious little happening, one of those little incidents that upset the best plans of criminals, his real name became known, and he was dragged to the bar of justice."

The courtroom applauded the effort of the prosecuting attorney when he took his seat, after demanding a verdict of guilty, but the prisoner sat grim and defiant. The presiding judge asked if he had any defense, but he shook his head sadly. An attempt to defend himself seemed a mere waste of words to Peter Halsbury at that moment. The jury retired and in three minutes returned with a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was sentenced to four years' imprisonment.

In the little corridor where the sentenced prisoners waited before being conveyed to the jail, an inquisitive officer who had listened to the trial inquired how the authorities had discovered Halsbury's real name, and the prisoner told the story of his father's visit.

"I don't mind four years," he said, "but if my old dad knew I got it through owing up to my real name for the sake of a twenty-minute chat with him, it would about end 'im."

The officer took out his tobacco pouch and passed some of its contents to the prisoner as they moved forward.

"There's no need to tell you to keep your mouth shut about me giving you this tobacco," he whispered. "You're made of good stuff if you have slipped a cog."

And the heart of Peter Halsbury was comforted much by the assurance.

He Got Even.

"Now, I want you to apologize to little Freddie the first time you see him for making his nose bleed. Little boys should never fight. Now, promise me you will apologize the first time you meet him."

"All right, mother, I will," readily promised Willie.

The next day Willie met Freddie. "I want to apologize for making your nose bleed," said Willie.

Little Freddie made no reply, but started down the street with his nose in the air.

Willie grew angry at his little friend but suddenly thought of an idea. Running around the block as fast as his legs would carry him, he met Freddie coming slowly down the street.

"Hey, Freddie, he called.

"Whatcher yer want?"

"Isn't this the second time I met you?"

"Well, take this, then," said Willie with a well-directed punch on Freddie's nose, which knocked the lad into the mud.

"O-o-o," wailed the unfortunate Freddie, struggling to his feet, "what did you do that for?"

"My mother told me to apologize to you the first time I met you," replied little Willie, "but she didn't say anything about the second time I saw you."

Couldn't Be Worse.

Senator Thomas P. Gore of Oklahoma recently told the following story: A prisoner was brought before the bar in the criminal court, but was not represented by a lawyer.

"Where is your lawyer?" asked the judge who presided.

"I have none, sir," replied the prisoner.

"Why not?" inquired the judge.

"Because I have no money to pay one."

"Do you want a lawyer?" asked the judge.

"Yes, sir."

"Well, there are Mr. Thomas W. Wilson, Mr. Henry Eddy and Mr. Geo. Rogers," said the judge, pointing to several young attorneys who were sitting in the room, waiting for something to turn up, "and Mr. Allen is out in the hall."

The prisoner looked at the attorneys and, after a critical survey, he turned to the judge and said:

"If I can take my choice, sir, I guess I'll take Mr. Allen."

Cheap Enough.

A woman with a shawl over her head entered a butcher shop where there were a good many different grades of meat and began looking over some pieces piled on the counter and marked "Choice bits." The butcher hastened over and said:

"I am selling those cheap today, madam, only two cents apiece."

The woman shook her head. "Too high," she said.

"One cent, then," the butcher ventured.

Still the woman hesitated.

"Well, then, when I'm not lookin' suppose you just take 'em."

Mere Stealing.

Judge—"You admit, then, that you stole the loaf of bread?"

Woman Prisoner—"Yes, your honor."

Judge—"What have you to say for yourself?"

Woman—"Nothing, your honor. If it was lace or jewelry I might plead kleptomania, but we can't work that when it's bread."

RED SOX GRAB FIRST GAME OF SERIES BY A LONE RUN IN FOURTHRuth and Vaughn Pitched Flawless Game, With Perfect Support

NOT MANY THRILLS

Second Game of Series Today at Comisky Park—
Crowd Just Fair

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The Boston Red Sox won the opener of the world baseball championship series at Comisky Park yesterday afternoon, beating the Chicago Cubs by one lone run, in the fourth inning. Pitchers Ruth and Vaughn pitched in almost perfect form, backed by support as perfect as any fan ever saw. Boston triumphed over Chicago when Whiteman and McInnis put lusty singles behind one of Vaughn's passes.

From the ball player's standpoint it was a great game, because of its proximity to perfection. From the rooster's viewpoint it was tame and monotonous, because there were so few tense moments. Few of the plays were difficult and the thrills were infrequent. The defense of both teams so far outclassed their offense that there was little doing that was dramatic.

Although the Cubs outbatted the Red Sox by the small margin of six singles to five, Ruth outpitched Vaughn by an equally small margin. The enemy flinger was steady and confident all the way, usually had the batsman in the hole, and allowed only two of them to walk, one after being bearded by a loose curve.

Vaughn at the start seemed to lack his usual perfect control, judging by the number of times he went to "three and two" before disposing of his man. But after the fatal fourth inning Hippo pitched a wonderful game, giving his opponents absolutely no opening to score again until the last round, when two bases on balls, one of them intentional, varied the monotony a bit.

Ruth shone only as a pitcher. The powerful slugger, who has done more than any other one man on the team to win the American league pennant and whose swats have featured many of Boston's games this year, was as helpless as a real "Babe" in front of Vaughn's fire. Twice in three times at bat Ruth struck out, and there was a ring of genuineness both times, for he took a full swing at the ball. The other time he popped to Paskert.

First Inning.

Boston—Hooper out, Merkle to Vaughn. Shean singled. Strunk forced Shean, Deal to Pick. Strunk out stealing, Killefer to Hollocher. One hit.

Chicago—Flack struck out. Hollocher out, Shean to McInnis. Mann's grounder bounded over Shean's head for a single. Paskert singled, driving Mann to third. Merkle walked. Pick flied to Whiteman. Two hits.

Second Inning.

Boston—Whiteman singled. McInnis sacrificed, Vaughn to Merkle. Scott flied to Flack. Thomas out. Merkle to Vaughn. One hit.

Chicago—Deal out, Ruth to McInnis. Killefer out, Shean to McInnis. Vaughn fouled to Agnew.

Third Inning.

Boston—Agnew fouled to Killefer. Ruth flied to Paskert. Hooper singled and was out stealing, Killefer to Hollocher. One hit.

Chicago—Flack singled. Hollocher sacrificed, Thomas to McInnis. Mann out, Shean to McInnis. Paskert out, Scott to McInnis. One hit.

Fourth Inning.

Boston—Shean walked. Strunk bunted a fly to Vaughn. Whiteman singled. McInnis singled, scoring Shean. Scott bunted a foul to Deal. Thomas struck out. One run. Two hits.

Chicago—Merkle flied to Hooper. Pick struck out. Deal flied to Hooper.

Fifth Inning.

Boston—Agnew out, Deal to Merkle. Ruth struck out. Hooper out. Vaughn to Merkle.

Chicago—Killefer flied to Whiteman. Vaughn struck out. Flack was hit by pitcher, Hollocher flied to Strunk.

Sixth Inning.

Boston—Shean struck out. Strunk out, Vaughn to Merkle. Whiteman fouled to Flack.

Chicago—Mann flied to Hooper. Paskert singled. Merkle singled. Pick out, McInnis unassisted. Deal flied to Whiteman. Two hits.

Seventh Inning.

Boston—McInnis flied to Paskert. Scott out, Hollocher to Merkle. Thomas struck out.

Chicago—Killefer flied to Strunk. Vaughn out, Scott to McInnis. Flack out same way.

Eighth Inning.

Boston—Agnew out, Deal to Merkle. Ruth struck out. Hooper out, Pick to Merkle.

Chicago—Hollocher out, McInnis unassisted. Mann flied to Whiteman. Paskert struck out.

Ninth Inning.

Boston—Shean walked. Strunk sacrificed, Vaughn to Merkle. Whiteman struck out. McInnis walked. Scott out, Vaughn to Merkle.

Chicago—Merkle flied to Whiteman. O'Farrell batted for Pick and popped to Thomas. Deal beat out a slow hit to Thomas. McCabe ran for Deal. Killefer flied to Hooper. One hit.

GYLLECK STAR FEATURE.

Olaf Gylleck of this city was the star feature at the first annual picnic of the Grand Haven, Mich., home guards held Sept. 2, at the Spring Lake hotel grounds. Of his work the Grand Haven Daily Tribune, says:

"A complete program of games was prepared and the young and old had the time of their lives in the contests. Thrift stamps were given out as prizes in each event. The water event in which Olaf Gylleck, bound securely was dumped out of a boat into Spring Lake to arise freed from his bonds was one of the principal features."

STATION NOW OPEN.

Ever since the days of Florence Nightingale the nursing profession has been one of especial honor. It was never so honorable as it is today. The army needs every nurse it can get to "keep up with the draft." The United States Student Nurse Reserve is the equivalent for women of the great National Army training will rely upon the student nurses to fight disease at home, to care for those injured and disabled in our hazardous war industries, and to make themselves ready to serve when the time comes as fully trained nurses, either abroad or at home. Let us show that we know how to answer the Government's call to the women of the country.

The call is for 25,000 volunteers between the ages of 19 and 35 years, and these women are to come from every remote part of the country. They are to be trained in hospitals throughout the country, where they will be assigned. In enrolling, a woman may indicate whether or not she prefers to be assigned to a particular locality for her training. Every question of this kind, and that of expenses (which are taken care of by the training school), and of period of training, will be answered when the applicant goes to the recruiting station for nurses which has been established here and is under the direction of the local unit of the woman's committee of the State Council of Defense.

Will you be a recruit in this army of mercy and healing, as vital to the nation's existence as the army of soldiers and sailors who have given everything for you and their country. The recruiting station is in the Council of National Defense rooms with Mrs. Nathaniel Morrill in charge.

U-Boats Have Murdered Thousands. There is a danger lest familiarity, even with such a monstrous crime as unrestricted U-boat warfare, should breed indifference to its enormity, says an exchange. Therefore, it is well to bear in mind that, except when the attack is made on fighting ships or transports carrying fighting men, the torpedoing of ships and sending men to their death far out at sea, is simply murder, unredeemed by any extenuating circumstances whatsoever. Just how great a bill of indictment is being drawn up by the German admiralty against itself is seen in the statement given by the government leader in the house of commons, that up to February, 1918, the German U-boats had killed 14,120 noncombatant British men, women and children. This, he it noted, is exclusive of the murders done upon peoples of other nationalities.

Woman's Morning
Sickness—

POOR WOMAN, she is called upon to suffer and carry MORE than her share of human ills, but the one that seems to be most trying and unfair of all is the sickness that comes to her at the time of life when she should be at her best—when every ounce of her strength should be for the carrying out of that act of Nature that makes her bring a new life into the world.

MANY WOMEN SUFFER—awfully—terribly during this time with a stomach sickness. It is the kind that never can be told in words—the morning sickness of a woman.

Before Baby Comes—

It is one of the most trying tests of human endurance, and all the more so because it is so hard to control.

Few remedies can be depended upon to give more or less temporary relief. So many favorable reports have come to us from those who have used EATONIC during this time that it is with the greatest satisfaction we say to ALL SUFFERERS from this peculiar woman's sickness of the stomach, "DO TRY EATONIC—give it a fair trial, and GET THE HELP we so confidently feel sure you will get."

The results have been so uniformly good—wonderful in many cases—that we say to you, and gladly do we say it, that any poor woman sufferer who obtains a package of EATONIC from any druggist in this city or drug stores anywhere and uses it according to the simple directions if it fails to do the good and give the help that it should—all she has to do is to return it to the druggist whom you know and can trust and the money will be cheerfully refunded. Remember it only costs a penny or two a day to use EATONIC.

SO WE SAY—

Do not ever suffer again

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

The campaign for the Fourth Liberty Loan begins September 28 and closes October 19. While the amount has not yet been announced, it is generally conceded it will be for a larger amount than any of the preceding loans. The American people, therefore, are called upon to raise a larger sum of money in a shorter length of time than ever before. There is need, therefore, for prompt action—prompt and efficient work and prompt and liberal subscriptions.

We have a great inspiration for a great effort. The news from the battle front inspires every American heart, not only with pride and patriotism but with a great incentive to do his or her part. There is no shirking, no shifting of the individual burden, no selfishness by American soldiers in France; there should be none here. We are both supporting the same country and the same cause—our Army in one way, ourselves in another. Theirs is the harder part, but at least we can do our part as promptly and loyally and efficiently as they do theirs.

BROWN SHOE CO.

Women and Girls wanted to learn Shoe making. Steady work, good pay. Free Nursery for children.

Famous Military Commanders.
 Napoleon regarded Wellington as able, but lucky. He considered Tilly and Wallenstein far better generals than Gustaf Adolf. Turenne he placed far in advance of Frederick the Great. "If I had a man like Turenne as my second in command during my campaigns," he said, "I should now be master of the world." Hannibal, according to Plutarch, sometimes ranked Alexander, sometimes Pyrrhus as the foremost general of all time. Scipio he placed second. Himself he ranked but third or fourth. Posterity has modified his verdict to the advantage of his fame.

He Had Changed.
 Mother—Why didn't you speak to that little boy who just passed?
 Tommie—I don't know him, mama.
 "Yes, you do know him. He's the little boy who just moved in next door to us. You were playing with him yesterday."
 "Well, mama, if that's the same boy, he's over-washed today."

"Twobble says he can stop Mrs. Twobble right in the middle of a tirade."
 "Wonderful. What does he say to her?"
 "Nothing. He merely gets out his fountain pen and check-book."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Dixon Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence. This Dixon citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit. The facts are now confirmed. Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive. It forms convincing proof of merit.

Mrs. M. Y. Cox, 614 Van Buren Ave., says: "A short time ago my back began to bother me. I had a dull, heavy pain in the small of my back and it hurt me when I stooped over or straightened up. I also had headaches and frequent dizzy spells. I used one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they entirely removed the trouble." (Statement given January 22, 1915.)

NO TROUBLE SINCE.
 On April 28, 1917, Mrs. Cox said: "Since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me I have never had a sign of kidney complaint. The recommendation I gave for Doan's Kidney Pills in 1915 still holds good." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

WIT AND NEAR WIT.

Farmer—"Here's your hoe, your rake and your spade."
 Fashionable Worker—"Quite so. And where's my caddy?"—Kansas City Journal.

"You have not always been as kind to me as you might have been," said Mrs. Dubwaite, in tearful tones.
 "I know I haven't, my dear," replied Mr. Dubwaite, "and I'm sorry. But you will have to give me credit for one thing."
 "What is that?"
 "I have never forgotten the respect a gentleman owes the lady who bears his name and presides over his home so far as to speak of you as my 'old woman.'"

Wife (reading)—"Bachelor hangs himself in a clothes closet."
 Husband—"Oh, if he had only been married he couldn't have squeezed into it."

"Have you a wife?" inquired a British Tommy to a boche he had captured.
 "Nein," replied the German.
 "Nine!" gasped the Britisher in amazement. "Lumme, where's your iron cross, man?"—New York Globe.

"What do they mean by giving a man the freedom of a city?"
 "It's a form of words. I don't know that it really means anything."
 "Might be worth having if it put you out of reach of the traffic cops."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Gadspur looks troubled all the time."
 "Yes, poor fellow. A great shadow hangs over him."
 "What is the nature of his affliction?"
 "Five years ago he promised his wife an automobile and he hasn't been able to buy one yet."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"The war has put an end to matchmaking."
 "Has it really? I notice there are as many marriages as ever."
 "Of course, but the young people arrange matters for themselves. It's bound to be that way nowadays, when a 'buck' private in khaki stands a better chance to win the village belle than a banker's son, who couldn't pass the physical examination to enter the army."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

LAWYERS GIVE SHELLER WATCH

The members of the Lee County Bar Association presented Harold Sheller with a beautiful wrist watch on the eve of his departure for military service at Camp Grant. The presentation was made in the office of Judge Watts this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mr. Sheller was asked to come to the office on a matter of business. When he arrived six or seven members of the association were there and soon after the young soldier's arrival, Judge Watts presented the watch in a few well chosen words. Mr. Sheller responded, being a trifle nervous, of course, thanking the attorneys and declaring that he appreciated their kindness and promised to keep the watch well "tuned up."

Mr. Sheller departs for Camp Grant Saturday morning.

BACK TODAY.
 Dr. R. B. Saxmann, one of the Sir Knights who attended the convalescence at Peoria Thursday and today, will return home tonight and will be in his office Saturday morning.

ON VACATION.
 Miss Anna Mead, day ticket agent and operator at the Illinois Central office, is on her annual vacation. She has gone to Kansas to visit a brother.

REV. A. P. ROSSIER TO PREACH.
 Rev. A. P. Rossier, of Geneseo, Ill., will preach Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church.

LICENSED TO WED

County Clerk Dimick has issued a marriage license to the following parties:
 Walter D. Scott, Amboy; Ruth Walters, Amboy.

EDWARDS AT PAW PAW.
 State's Attorney Harry Edwards will go to Paw Paw tonight where he will deliver the address at the dedication of the war service flag for Wyoming township.

FROM WILMINGTON SHIPYARDS.
 George Schuler is home from Wilmington, where he has been working in the ship yards.

From Gary.
 Mrs. Frank Garrison has returned from Gary, Ind., where she went with her cousin, Emil Abscher, who was appointed captain of fifteen men going to Camp Grant.

Mrs. Frank E. Furst of Freeport was here today visiting friends.

Mesdames Harry C. Tear and A. C. Czibulka of Warren were Dixon visitors today.

Guy Miller attended the Morrison fair today.

O. H. Hatcher, president of the Midland Lumber Company, with headquarters at Freeport, was transacting business in Dixon yesterday.

Deputy Sheriff Schoenholtz was in the vicinity of Harmon this morning serving papers.

Mrs. J. F. Haley and daughter, Mrs. Moerschbacher, left last night Minot, N. D., to attend the funeral of Mrs. Haley's son-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Titus of Flagg Center are guests today of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Schoenholtz.

The Yee county board of supervisors will meet in regular session next Tuesday, Sept. 10th. The session will be a busy one. The regular tax levy will be made and the petit jurors for the year will be selected.

FOODS WITH CORN AS BASIS

Some Really Excellent Dishes That Are Popular in Different Parts of the World.

Maize was the chief aboriginal food of America and is still a favorite article of diet in Central America. "Samp" was adopted by the early colonists of New England from the Indians; it consisted, according to Roger Williams, of "Indian corn beaten and broiled and eaten hot or cold with milk or butter." "Hominy" was the name given to maize after it had been boiled with alkali, causing the skin of the grain to peel away and leave the soft inner portion.

"Succotash" originally meant an ear of maize, but was afterwards used to describe a mixture of corn and beans. "Hoe cake" was taken over from the southern Indians. The Pueblo Indians ate gruel baked on stone stoves, calling it "paper bread." "Hulled corn or hominy, ground into a paste," says H. J. Spinden in his account of the Mexican dietary, "furnishes dough for the tortillas or unleavened cakes that take the place of bread in Mexico. Although the ordinary tortilla is rather soggy, it is delicious when made thin. For a breakfast dish nothing can surpass the enchilada, which is a tortilla rolled up cigar fashion with a little meat, cheese or chili pepper as a surprise in the center. This is toasted before the fire until it is crisp and crackling. Pinole is, properly speaking, a parched meal made from maize and other seeds. The word is applied to a variety of dishes such as stews of maize, meat and chili peppers."

HAVE MANY GOOD REMEDIES

Chinese Physicians by No Means All Ignorant of Fine Points of Their Profession.

Writing of a recent decree of the Chinese government, permitting autopsies on the human body, Millard's Review (Shanghai) says that it is only lately that Chinese doctors discovered that the bodies of Orientals had the same internal arrangement as those of Occidentals. They had been taught that the organs were arranged much in the manner of a modern office building with the elevator shaft as the connecting medium. But it adds:

"It must be admitted, however, that the Chinese practitioners, through long experience and through the custom of handing down medical secrets from one generation to another, do have many excellent native remedies. One Chinese medical treatise indicates no less than 98 different types of pulse, and another form of treatment is that of puncturing the body with a needle. A chart of the human body contains 700 spots which are indicated as the places where it is safe to insert a needle without injuring a vital organ. Quinine as a medicine has long been known in China. Belief in the sanctity of the human body in relation to future life has up to the last few years prevented the use and development of surgery."

Play at Something.

Are you one of those who laugh at those who ride hobbies? Did you ever notice that a man doesn't amount to much who isn't a little batty over something outside of the way he makes a living.

Look around at the unusual men and women you know and see if all of them haven't sidelines in the way of work. These queries are due to a story of a big man who "clears his mind" every evening by driving a motorcar through the worst traffic in the world. He could just as well take easier routes, hire an expert chauffeur or not drive at all, but the trip makes him forget such little things as money deals and big operations.

Use every day some portions of your body other than those with which you make a living, either mind or muscle. Just because you're grown is no reason why you should not play.—Toledo Blade.

Bluffing.
 We all know to what desperate lengths some can be carried by their desire to be important or even to seem important. It is as if they felt that they could not endure making this earthly pilgrimage without attracting notice to themselves. Openly or covertly they will try to give their lives enhancement. They are pitiful when they resort to pretense and deceit. And yet even here there is a certain imaginative appeal, a longing to change drab colors into brighter shades, to do for themselves what the writers of fiction do for characters that entertain and charm and thrill.—Exchange.

He's Some Help.
 Belle—Her husband is very good at figures, you know.
 Beulah—Really?
 "Oh, yes. He's in a bank."
 "Think of that!"
 "She always takes him to her knitting club."
 "What can he do at a knitting club?"
 "He counts the stitches so she can talk."

Marching Orders.
 Patience—What's become of that young man who used to call on you?
 Patrice—You mean the one papa didn't like?
 "That's the one."
 "Oh, he's gone to be a soldier."
 "What's he know about being a soldier. I'd like to know?"
 "Oh, papa showed him how to march."

Better Buy Than Build

Building houses these days is highly expensive business.

We have a number of houses already built that can be bought at the right prices.

Some of the owners live elsewhere, some want to trade their large houses for small, small for large, or for suburban homes, and some suburban homes can be exchanged for city property. One party we have in mind wants to exchange a $3,000.00 Dixon home for an 80-acre farm within 5 or 6 miles of Dixon, Polo, Franklin Grove or Ashton and pay the difference in cash.

We have suburban homes with 1/2 acre, 1 acre, 1 1/2 acres and on up to 23 acres at reasonable prices.

Renters will probably never have better chances to buy homes RIGHT than right now. We have homes from $800.00 up, and some of them can be bought with small payments down.

SOCIETY

Red Cross War Market.

The War Work Market of the Red Cross will be open again this Saturday between the hours of 9:30 in the morning and 9:30 in the evening, both for the receipt of donations and for the sale of goods. It is hoped that the donations will be brought as early in the day as possible and all gifts, no matter what their value or their nature, will be acceptable. The Red Cross hopes for a liberal patronage as the fund secured is used in the purchase of goods for the making of the comfort kits which the soldier boys find so convenient. The women of the Red Cross were busy every day this week at the shop making the sixty comfort kits, the quota of this week, and each week has its quota, as all the soldiers of Lee county must be provided with them. The sixty kits were not only made but filled with the sixteen useful articles that these always contain. When it is understood that each one of these costs three dollars and the whole sixty, one hundred and eighty dollars, it is easily seen that the comfort kit fund must be a large one. So everybody boost.

To Morrison Fair.

Mrs. Rowland, Mrs. Forsyth and Mrs. F. X. Newcomer will attend the Morrison fair tomorrow.

Frolickers' Party Tonight.

Many of the younger set are anticipating a delightful time at the dancing party to be given this evening by the Frolickers' Club of Dixon high school boys in Rosbrook hall. The Marquette orchestra will play.

Motored From Cornell.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Gourley and daughters, the Misses Lucille and Ruth, and Miss Gertrude Dickerson, of Cornell, Ill., motored here on Labor Day to spend a few days at the home of Mr. Gourley's sister, Mrs. F. M. Lawson. Gerald Lawson, who had been spending a three week's vacation at Cornell, returned with them.

Miss Lawson Entertained.

Thirteen girls spent a delightful evening as the guests of Miss Leah Lawson at an informal party given for Miss Lawson's guest, Miss Trixie Beyers, who was a classmate at the Art Institute, Chicago. Knitting, music and chat whiled away the evening and a tempting luncheon was served from a table decorated with pink and white astors. The guests were the Misses Orleans Newcomer, Leota Rice, Goldie Brierley, Erma Brown, Charlotte Campbell, Anna Marie Worthington, Ruth Rosenthal, Esther Barton, race and Minnie Breisch. Marion Ahrens, Enid Wicher and Margaret McTague.

Visiting Daughters.

Mrs. F. L. O'Hara of Oakland, California, after visiting with her son, Sgt. Thomas Hayes, who was on a furlough from Paris Island, S. C., to Kansas City, where his grandparents reside, has come to Dixon to visit her daughters, Mesdames Allen and Edward Fane.

Home From Chicago.

Miss Seville Crawford has returned from a visit in Chicago and is staying with Miss Mary Louise Fuller as her guest until her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Crawford, return from their eastern trip.
